Zimmer Automobile Manufacturers

Zimmer Motor Cars Corporation, known for its neo-classic automobiles, has an interesting history and manufacturing process -

History and Background

Zimmer Motor Cars was founded in 1980 by Paul Zimmer and his son, Bob Zimmer –

The company initially operated out of Pompano Beach, Florida, and later expanded to Cambridge, Maryland, and Syracuse, New York –

The company faced bankruptcy in 1988 but was revived by Art Zimmer in 1997 -

Manufacturing Process

Zimmer cars are known for their retro style and high-quality craftsmanship. The manufacturing process involves several key steps:

1. Design and Planning: The design of Zimmer cars, such as the Golden Spirit, starts with detailed planning and sketches -

2. Chassis Modification: The original chassis, often from a Ford Mustang, is extended and modified to fit the neo-classic design -

3. Body Construction: Fiberglass body panels are manufactured and fitted onto the modified chassis -

4. Assembly: The car is assembled with custom-made parts, including chrome bumpers and other exterior components -

5. Quality Control: Each car undergoes rigorous quality checks to ensure it meets the high standards Zimmer is known for -

Models and Production

Zimmer produced several models, including the Golden Spirit and the Quicksilver

The Golden Spirit was the flagship model, known for its luxurious design and craftsmanship –

At its peak, Zimmer Motor Cars produced an average of 176 cars per year.

Current Status

Although the company faced challenges, it continued to produce Zimmer-badged automobiles until 2020 –

The legacy of Zimmer cars lives on through their unique design and the passion of their owners -

Zimmer's commitment to quality and craftsmanship has made its cars a symbol of luxury and elegance.
